Hace 48 horas los títulos de los dos primeros capítulos de la saga de Netflix "Los increíbles nuevos de Netflix" se habilitan en EspaPeople are asking for a second term for President Barack Obama. They are showing up for all the big rallies and posting up posters on message boards calling for it. But the only such candidate to run for the presidency in 2008 has already been defeated. One of the reasons given for Obama's victory was the fact that he had the nomination before John McCain and had a built-in advantage among the liberal base. An even bigger reason was that the American people were sick of the failed policies of the last eight years. They wanted change and Obama was the guy who gave that change a chance. Will they forgive Obama for creating so much debt and passing policies that allow rich people to pay lower taxes, strip health care from millions of Americans, and ignore the real issues facing the country? Or will the voters switch their support over to Republican Mitt Romney and the Tea Party? Such questions will no doubt be debated by political gurus and analysts. But don't be fooled. Such issues are only part of the story. We should expect more from our leaders. And the way they explain the most important issues of the day and how they do it should be very different than the way Obama and McCain did it. Besides, the more we learn about the financial crisis and the way
